Geneva adventure

An absolutely unexpected way to discover a different facet of Geneva. Take a raft and discover a truly unexpected side of the City...you won't believe your eyes!

The Arve river has its source in the Mont-Blanc massif. It flows through France and becomes, after seven kilometres through Swiss territory, a tributary of the Rhône. After a short briefing on equipment, technical details and safety, plunge your rafts into the river in the midst of a nature still unspoiled, and approach the city. Alternating calm waters with moderately difficult, fast moving sections, protected from the hustle and bustle of the city by a curtain of trees along the riverbank. Rafting on the Arve river provides the opportunity to experience whitewater sports safely, under optimal conditions.

Change your vehicle for lunch and ride across Geneva's countryside on board a RestoTuk: a unique mobile terrace to admire the landscape while savoring local food. An unforgettable experience!

Back to the Old Town, you'll become a real chocolatier thanks to a chocolate workshop during which you will uncover all the secret of this delicious material and prepare you own treats.
